Singaporean container line Ocean Network Express (ONE) has announced an update to its Adriatic Feeder Service (AIB) in the Mediterranean region.

ONE said it has decided to redesign its service to offer seamless connectivity to the recently announced updated Asia-Mediterranean network (MD1 / MD2 / MD3 services).

The first vessel sailing under the updated AIB service will be the 1,100 TEU, 2010-built boxship Marielyst with an estimated time of arrival at the port of Valencia on 21 February 2024.

The updated service rotation will be Valencia (Spain) - Alexandria (Egypt) - Koper (Slovenia) - Venice (Italy) - Ancona (Italy) - Damietta (Egypt) - Valencia

"The updated AIB service will be expected to provide a reliable and quality assured transport service as well as schedule integrity," said ONE in a statement.
