MAERSK STOCKHOLM – DELAY ON ELEPHANT SERVICE

MAERSK has informed us of an unexpected delay affecting the vessel MAERSK STOCKHOLM operating on our Elephant service, on her journey from Newark to Norfolk, USA.

An inspection conducted by authorities at Newark showed the presence of a pest inside accommodation's dry provision store of the vessel. There is no report of impact on containers or cargo, and the vessel has been instructed by authorities to undergo fumigation inside the accommodation space before she can be permitted to berth for cargo operations. The vessel is currently at anchorage in Norfolk for the necessary fumigation.

MSC regrets any inconvenience caused and will update you in due course as soon as further information to pass on to you from the vessel operator.
