

Splash

247.com

HMM returns to transatlantic trades

Sam Chambers

December 17, 2024

After a seven-year hiatus, HMM, South Korea's top containerline, will return to the transatlantic trades next February.

The new service – Transatlantic 1 (TA1) – connects Northern Europe and the US west coast, via the Panama Canal with stops including at Miami. It will be operated in conjunction with Ocean Network Express (ONE), its Japanese partner on the soon-to-launch Premier Alliance.

An HMM official said, "Together with the new launch of transatlantic service, HMM's coverage will be further extended across the entire globe."