As we approach the Chinese New Year period, we recognize the unique challenges this season brings, including expected decline in demand and a limited workforce for cargo operations. At Maersk, we remain committed to ensuring minimal disruption to your supply chain while maintaining the reliability you depend on.

To proactively manage these challenges, we are implementing structural changes and alternative routing designed to enhance predictability and keep your business moving seamlessly before, during and after the Chinese New Year period.

To give you as much visibility on the situation as possible, please see below planned capacity adjustment details. Below sailing will be void:

Week – 6

Service	Vessel	Voyage WB/EB	First Load Port / ETD	Last Load Port / ETD
SAFINA	SAN FERNANDO	506W	Ningbo / 05-02-2025	Jebel Ali / 29-02-2025

Our teams will continue to make sure customer impact is minimized by rebooking cargo to the remaining network in advance. We understand the importance of this matter to your business and supply chain, we remain committed to providing timely updates.

We value our continued relationship with you and remain committed to providing you with clear visibility into any changes and reliable solutions for your logistics needs.
